

Suez Canal Crisis Report and Notes

Motion Summaries

The Suez Canal Crisis Committee began with a passing motion to open debate. The only further motion, a motion for a general speakers list, was proposed by the delegate of France, and clearly passed. It was a ten minute motion, with 1 minute for each speaker. The speaker's list consisted of East Germany, Sudan, Brazil, Denmark, Romania, France, Czechoslovakia, Israel, Egypt, and Poland. After the 10 minutes ended, three motions were proposed, yet all failed, so the chair chose the motion to extend the debate time by 5 speakers with 1 minute speaking time. The speakers consisted of Mexico, Yemen, and Czechoslovakia; as nobody else requested time to speak. The next passing motion was under the topic of discussing the role of IGOs with a duration of 10 minutes and 1 minute speaking time. The speakers consisted of Sudan, Yemen, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, Brazil, Mexico, Israel, France, and Iran. The delegate of Sudan proposed a motion for a 5 minute moderated caucus with 1 minute speaking time on the topic of the role of international law on these issues, which clearly passed. The speakers consisted of East Germany, Romania, France, Sudan. With the idea to discuss the first crisis update, the attack on the Catholic Church, France proposed a 10 minute unmoderated caucus with the intention to discuss the crisis update, which passed (See Breakout Room Summary). The next motion that passed was proposed by San Marino for a 9 minute moderated caucus with 45 second speaking time with the intention of discussing the unmoderated caucus, which clearly passed. The speakers were San Marino, Belgium, France, Sudan, Yemen, Czechoslovakia, Mexico, Egypt, Israel, and Brazil. 2 more speakers were requested, and they were Sudan and East Germany. The next and only motion was a 15 minute unmoderated caucus to discuss the solutions proposed by blocks, and it was proposed by Belgium (See Breakout Room Summary 2).

The first motion after the break was a 10 minute unmoderated caucus to continue drafting plans for the different blocks (See Breakout Room Summary 3). The following motion was to have a 5 minute moderated caucus to discuss future plans and the topics discussed in the unmoderated caucus. The speakers were Sudan, France, Brazil, and East Germany. The first directive was then presented, with 5 minutes total, including time for answering questions from delegates. The delegate of Czechoslovakia then spoke for the directive, with the delegate of France speaking against it. To vote on the directive, all present and voting delegates voted in favor, or against the motion. The result of the vote was that the directive did not pass. Furthermore, to reevaluate the directives, a 15 minute unmoderated caucus was voted upon (See Breakout Room Summary 4). Following this, a 9 minute extension to the previous unmoderated caucus was passed. After that, to conclude the committee, the final directive was presented, though it did not pass.

Press Releases

Czechoslovakia's press release highlights an alliance with Egypt, and threatens to take all necessary actions to defend sovereignty and peace in Egypt. Czechoslovakia ensures that it will not be standing idle with these issues and that they are willing to take action.

The Polish Army came up with a press release with topics on the attack on the Polish border where 12 citizens were killed, but it did note that the attackers were neutralized. Claiming that it was a cowardly assault, the Polish Army condemns the attack and calls upon the rest of the world to take action, demanding immediate UN intervention.

Brazil's press release highlighted concerns on the attack because it undermines international peace, called on the United Nations by encouraging diplomatic dialogue.

East Germany calls for the end of violence in their press release, especially because it feels threatened by the polarizing terrorism occurring, especially with the assassination of Walter Ulbricht.

The press release from the government of Czechoslovakia expressed sheer distaste and disgust after the attack on the Catholic Church in Stettin. It openly supports the formation of the Vistula-Oder Union, commending the actions taken by Poland and East Germany.

Czechoslovakia issued yet another press release explaining their alliance with Egypt and Sudan. It also addresses support of San Marino and the role of the International Court of Justice in calling for a ceasefire and removal of foreign military force.

The next press release was submitted anonymously, bringing attention to the speculation that Egypt and Sudan seem to have abandoned the goal of the committee altogether. The release also addresses how France and Israel are being called "imperialists" even though both advocated for peace.

The USA, France, and Israel published a new press release stating that the United Kingdom and France defend the Suez Canal with their military. The release addresses how they want to divide the canal and the military involvement that they will be permitted to deploy.

The final press release came anonymously, though delegates quickly assumed who the release was issued by. It criticized the United States for its involvement in the support of military intervention, which was believed to be part of the plans of the alliance against Egypt, Sudan, and San Marino.

Crisis Updates

The first crisis update summarized the recent threats by countries if decolonization does not occur. There was an attack on a Catholic Church in Stettin. The assailants were found with British passports and MI6 and Mossad identifications. In addition, a leader in East Germany, Walter Ulbricht, was assassinated.

The second crisis update references the polarizing issues and tensions of the crisis. There were leaked documents from West Germany that

The third crisis update talks about the propaganda campaign to condemn the military involvement in the Suez Canal. t

The fourth crisis update discusses increased fighting in the Sinai Peninsula, with many casualties and support. Bombs have damaged portions of the Suez Canal, and bombing has also occurred in France. No solution has yet been found.

The fifth and final crisis update started with Ayushmaan saying "I just wanna say that the world is now f#*&%$." The Suez Canal has been completely destroyed, with nuclear tensions being as high as ever, with a World War looming. No solution was ever found.

Breakout Rooms

During the first unmoderated caucus, fantastic discussions occurred in the Warsaw and Arab Alliance breakout room. Most nations and delegations displayed interest in diplomatic negotiations, with the use of force only if it is necessary. They displayed a definite interest in keeping Egypt a sovereign nation with peace. Most delegates are against violence as best as possible, but some are willing to give whatever is needed to protect Egypt. East Germany also expressed concern for the act of terrorism with the assassination of Walter Ulbricht.

In the second unmoderated caucus, many talks happened in the breakout room primarily led by the delegate of France. All delegates, including Israel, want a peaceful resolution. There were lots of questions about having Israel part of an alliance where peace is trying to be achieved. France's delegate displays disapproval and dissension of Israel's attacks.

In the third unmoderated caucus, the delegate of Romania proposed economic sanctions, tariffs from the United States, but the idea was shut down because nobody thought that the United States would switch alliances. Neocolonial aggression was also touched upon.

In the fourth unmoderated caucus, delegates from the Warsaw and Arab Alliance began to discuss the need for war and more military conflict. Czechoslovakia is ready to use whatever is necessary to resolve the conflict, including nukes and other weapons. Immediately, discussions and disagreements broke out to discuss the need for the document to be finished versus continuing to debate about the use for military involvement.

In an extension to the previous unmoderated caucus, delegates from both blocs debated the previous directive. Many ideas were proposed, but nothing was agreed upon. Furthermore, International Press conducted a brief discussion with the delegates of Israel and Egypt (See interview paragraph).

Interviews

A few questions were asked to the delegate of Sudan. The delegate has plans to gain influence in the Suez Canal and create new international organizations under Sudan's leadership, especially by working with foreign intelligence. The idea of the Warsaw and Arab block, at least in Sudan's mind, is to stop western interference in the Arab world and increase the influence of Sudan in world alliances. The delegate of Sudan is frustrated by the delegate of San Marino because he feels that San Marino is ignoring other nations and trying to centralize things around his own ideas. Sudan also disclosed that he is not entirely aligned with Egypt because he wants Sudan to be more involved, and according to Egypt's ideas, he is not part of everything.

A few questions were asked to the delegate of East Germany. The delegate has plans to expand East German and Stasi power. It wants to exert leadership and force upon Poland and Czechoslovakia. East Germany wishes to remain peaceful by working with San Marino. East Germany is not in full alliance with San Marino, but is more aligned with Sudan. The problem is that San Marino was proposing slow solutions.

A brief discussion also came about with the delegates of Egypt and Israel. They discussed plans to manipulate East Germany and blame them for the stealing of nukes, which they would have done with the promise of 50% stake in the Suez Canal Company, which Egypt never would have held up. Furthermore, Israel would have had military power in the canal at the discretion of Egypt.
